Marked Man It was a dark and stormy night, a fitting season for the release of the devilish Mad Hatter, as I made my way to the Red Room after a late night at MSP. I was feeling a little tipsy and had just finished two beers with my friends Jack and David. We sat around a small table in the corner with other students, professors and staff, when I began talking to a tall, skinny, stocky guy. I noticed that he did not have a seat at the table, but was instead sitting on the floor beside the chair, where Jack and David sat. I had talked to him a few times before, mostly just to say hello, but I never noticed that he wasn't really interested in the conversation. He spoke very little, and mostly asked others questions. He had a big, long scar running down his neck from his neck to his shoulder, and a tattoo on his neck. In his hand he had a flask, and I noticed that he was putting in and taking out the flask repeatedly. After a while of talking to him, I got the impression that he was actually a little crazy and seemed to always be running late. He only said hello to me and smiled, and I felt that he did not even want to look at me, which I found odd because he was sitting directly across from me. At this point I was a little drunk, and the small staff of the Red Room and I were in a somewhat bad mood. I wasn't really into "scene", but instead wanted to relax, unwind and play some video games. I left the table, said goodbye to my friends, who all asked what was wrong, and I proceeded to walk towards the cashier. I had almost made it when this crazy guy started to walk past me, and he started talking to me very loudly. He told me, in my drunken state, that I was dead and that he would kill me. He then proceeded to break into a run towards me, and before I could react he picked me up, placed me in
