USB Stick Watcher is a small utility designed for displaying reminders in case your pen drive is connected to your PC whenever you turn off the PC or try to log off. USB Stick Watcher is a small utility designed for displaying reminders in case your pen drive is connected to your PC whenever you turn off the PC or try to log off. USB Stick Watcher displays reminder when the PC shuts down or tries to shut down. The utility appears in the system tray and a right-click on its icon displays options to add/remove drives, access to Windows tools, or to enter the parameters in the configuration panel. Display the contents of the current pen drive, access to its drivers, or run a backup. The USB stick will be shown as a drive in My Computer, and a file will be created on the USB stick to store information about the contents of the pen drive. The drive will be created and used automatically. If USB Stick Watcher is disabled, all drives will be deleted and USB Stick Watcher will be re-enabled the next time you start the computer. USB Stick Watcher is a very simple utility for displaying reminders in case your pen drive is connected to your PC. The program can be used on all Windows computers and on all modern versions of Windows Vista or later. USB Stick Watcher comes with a well-designed interface and a set of customizable settings for users to set up the reminders they need. The USB Stick Watcher program allows you to view the contents of a pen drive as well as access the drivers for the pen drive's storage devices, backup information, or run a disk defragmentation program. USB Stick Watcher is designed to help you keep track of all USB pen drives connected to your computer. The utility displays a single reminder with information about the pen drive. However, you may schedule multiple reminders and display them at the same time. There are three reminders in the USB Stick Watcher program: 1. 'Reminder to unplug the USB stick' - displays the USB stick when you log off or close the computer. 2. '

KEYMACRO is a free utility to automatically record the keyboard and mouse actions from your desktop. You can then replay the recorded actions later on! An action is defined by three parameters: the command, the position (left mouse, middle mouse, right mouse, dpi, etc.) and the modifier. You can record the actions for 3 minutes, 1 minute, 5 seconds, 15 seconds, and so on. You can replay the recorded actions later on in two ways: - replay the actions as they were on the recording day - replay the actions on a specific day - replay the actions on a specific month Actions are played back with the following parameters: - the keyboard and mouse actions - the recorded date, day, month, and year - the recorded position, modifier, and settings After a replay, the actions recorded during the last 3 minutes are recorded. The recorded positions are displayed after a replay and you can select the last position recorded. Once you have recorded an action, you can edit the action by specifying: - a replay on a specific day - a replay on a specific month - a replay on a specific year - the new position for the replay (left mouse, middle mouse, right mouse, dpi, etc.) - the new modifier - the new modifier settings KeyMACRO is a powerful software and a must-have tool! Full screen reminders are also supported and are displayed when the USB flash drive is plugged in. Your Windows desktop wallpaper is replaced by an image that contains a reminder to unplug your flash drive. Last but not least, you are allowed to explore the content of pen drives and access several Windows tools related to defragmentation, error checks, and backups. Bottom line All things considered, USB Stick Watcher offers a simple software solution for helping you remember to unplug your USB flash drive. The intuitive layout makes it ideal for rookies and professionals alike. On the downside, the app has not been updated for a while so it may cause compatibility issues on newer operating systems like Windows 8.
