It looks like for a reason I'm receiving the error message when ever I use the "Paste Special..." command. Any assistance is greatly appreciated. A: Lets say you have a textbox with a bunch of jpg files like this: jpg1.jpg jpg2.jpg jpg3.jpg jpg4.jpg jpg5.jpg jpg6.jpg If you click on the textbox and go to Edit > Paste special..., this dialog will come up: If you copy the files there with the line of text "Selected text" it should paste it correctly. Just make sure that you can actually paste into that window without it crashing. If you have trouble, copy the files to a local folder and open that folder. Then go to Edit > Paste special... from within that folder window. Some more help is located here Most of the time, I feel like I make my decision of what I want to wear, but that doesn't say anything about how I want to feel wearing what I'm choosing. It just so happens that, the best summer dresses and jackets can have great impact on how you feel overall, so it's what you can build around that great decision that matters most. The following is my honest opinion, based on my personal experience with the shoes in question. There are definitely more important things in life than the shoes you wear, but these are my choices, they're what I like, and what I see as important, so your mileage will vary. 1. Flat sandals are great if they're either comfortable enough to wear all day or if they are made for walking, which most flats are, but what if you're not a big fan of how the sandal feels on your foot? In that case, I'd suggest you should consider a flat that has a little extra room in the toe box for your toes, so they're not fighting to push up and out to reach your skin. 2. Platform sandals are basically one of the best summer shoes to wear when temperatures are at their highest. They also have a lot to do with how they feel when they're worn. The fact that they are low cut, and come with a more open-toed version, and a platform between the toes, means that your feet can breathe easily. The fact that they
