Outlook Express Password Vulnerability ADVERTISEMENT My problem is this. I have outlook express 3.5 installed on a Windows Server 2003 Enterprise Edition and outlook express does not work after i tried to use the same password on another computer. I get a "cannot log into windows domain." I tried resetting my windows password and when i try to connect to the domain using outlook express on the other computer i get the error "the specified account already exists in the domain." I tried moving my profile to another profile on the same computer and to another computer and still cannot login on the other computer. I also updated the java jre and i checked the registry. I have no idea what to do. Any help would be great. Thanks. Java: I have installed the 1.4.2 version (amd64), the system is a Windows XP Professional x64 with SP2 installed. I have already tried the plugin installation, I'm not sure if the problem is in the plugin or the system, the version is not the same, but I have installed it directly on the system from the zip file. When I run the plugin, shows the following error message: "Cannot run Java. Exit". Can anyone help me?
