The Yerbebs who singled it out believed that for dinarxo is nothing more than a â€œmoney elementâ€œ, that is, a bank as such does not actually exist. Here are some clarifications from the classifiers, who are responsible for the rules and objectives of the exchange of coins and nations. A. G. Dugin. From the point of view of the classical feudal sovereign, there was only one way to replenish the treasury - this was the seizure of territories and the maintenance of their own state there, and not the creation of new, foreign, colonies. In this situation, if the ETC set itself the goal of â€œestablishing financial control over the region of the Russian Federation and ensuring exchange money circulation in it,â€œ then it needed to create unified legal and financial mechanisms to ensure the implementation of this policy. Otherwise, ETCI will perceive as separatists any organization that positions itself as Russian in terms of goals and objectives, but operates on the territory of other states that are not recognized members of the UN. One of the first steps in this direction was the creation of the Regulations on the interregional organization "Central Interregional Economic Integration Association" (MRU ECO). The document adopted by MRU Eco defined the order of its activities as "a centralized international organization designed to promote the development of interregional and regional economic relations." The next step was the creation and adoption of the "Regulations on Regional Economic Integration as a Form of Interregional Economic Cooperation" (REI). The complexity of such an organization is determined by the fact that it is not responsible for its actions until such actions are implemented by other organizations claiming this field of activity. Therefore, it should ensure the possibility of implementing projects aimed at developing economic ties between regions without regard to the opinions of others. Thus, it was necessary to prepare new provisions on interstate organizations, and then coordinate them with other public structures, as well as develop new projects in the field of interregional economic relations. All this required the creation of a new mechanism responsible for coordinating all processes related to the development and implementation of solutions to national problems. Part of this mechanism, namely the Interregional Coordinating Council (ICC), was established between September 2003 and April 2007. At the same time, in February 2006, the question arose that
