In search for variable antifreeze glycoprotein in plasma of winter fish. 1. Winter fish (Chondrostoma nasus and Chondrostoma toxostoma) have variable content of antifreeze glycoprotein (AFGP) in plasma; in winter chondrostomata AFGP content was high and in summer low. 2. Before winter a significant decrease in AFGP content was found in chondrostomata; after winter concentrations of glycoprotein in chondrostomata increased, possibly because of maturation of the glycoprotein biosynthetic system. 3. The seasonal change in content of AFGP in winter chondrostomata does not depend on food intake. 4. There was no evidence for a seasonal difference in antifreeze activity of the AFGP.Q: How to paste the output of R to a variable using sed in bash? I want to paste the output of R to a variable. The below code is not working as the value in line2 is pasted to a variable. How can I achieve it? $ Rscript sample.R | sed -e '2p' -e '3p' -e '4p' -e '5p' -e '6p' -e '7p' -e '8p' -e '9p' -e '10p' $ A:

I am trying to find a way where I can check a mysql database for a specific string and then return the string as a list. I am trying to do this to make it so that if a user has not filled in certain fields, I then return a text message explaining why they have not. Thanks in advance for any help! A: you could use mysql's LIKE syntax (SELECT * FROM TABLENAME WHERE COLUMN LIKE '%FILLED IN%'; If you want to show the user a message, you could use a CASE expression and NULL: CASE WHEN [COLUMN] IS NULL THEN TEXTMESSAGE ELSE TRUE END You could also make it more "generic": CASE WHEN [COLUMN] IS NULL THEN (SELECT TEXTMESSAGE FROM...) ELSE TRUE END This will return the value from the innermost SELECT "We are reaching out to you all out of respect for the victims and their families". All the High School students are safe and they will be released to their parents later in the day. It all started around 3:30 a.m. when parents of the students called and reported that there were several gunshots heard. "Somebody just shot at my car at my house," said one student. Police say the gunshots are the result of an accidental shooting of a gun and one student was hurt. Police say the gun went off accidentally as students were passing the loaded gun around. The student that was injured was a 14 year old freshman. He was reportedly taken to a nearby hospital and is expected to recover. Now, students who would have normally gone to school 570a42141b
