Flash EXE Builder is a powerful Windows application that allows you to easily create an executable file (.exe) from Flash movie (.SWF) files and publish it as a standalone application. Flash EXE Builder allows you to design your software as standalone applications or standalone packages for Windows operating systems. Usually your Flash movie files (.SWF) need to be converted into a separate executable file (.exe) to be able to run your Flash movies on Windows computers. For this reason, you often can't redistribute Flash movie files (.SWF) with your applications. With Flash EXE Builder, you can easily convert your SWF movie files into an executable package (.exe), so that you can easily publish it with your applications on Windows operating systems as a standalone application. Flash EXE Builder also allows you to create a standalone package for Windows operating systems. To create such an package, you need to publish your SWF movie files (.SWF) as a standalone application on Windows machines and then you can create the setup file (.msi) for that application. Flash EXE Builder is a very efficient tool for creating full-fledged standalone applications as well as standalone packages for Windows operating systems. It is a very easy to use tool. Flash EXE Builder Key Features: ■ Cut and paste images. ■ DHTML (Java Script) editor. ■ SWF Metadata/information. ■ Localized file for in-app help. ■ Image watermark for your SWF application. ■ Product and company information for EXE file. ■ Add custom actions to startup menu for your application. ■ Add custom actions to Shutdown menu for your application. ■ Add custom actions to Restart menu for your application. ■ Set "Error reports" for your applications. ■ Choose image size for your application splash screen. ■ Choose "No scale" or "fit to screen" to fit screen for your SWF movie. ■ Add text and bitmap image to splash screen. ■ Publish your SWF movie files (.SWF) as a.exe file. ■ Compact and archive your SWF movie files (.SWF). ■ Publish as a standalone application (.exe). ■ Publish as a package for Windows operating systems. ■ Rename your Flash movie files (.SWF) to another extension (however, the SWF file extension must remain the same). ■ Set the context menu for your application. ■ Set the
