Landscaping parks, gardens and other outdoor spaces are some of the most common applications of the Building Information Modeling (BIM) concept. When designing the garden or park of your dreams, it is obvious that you will need tools that are simple and that you can be in charge of, while the resulting project will be successful, regardless of the complexity of the project. In the category of such tools, Edificius-LAND is one of the most advanced alternatives. The reason is that it presents an intuitive user interface that makes it very easy to navigate and to work. It presents a classic layout, with menus and tools that can be accessed in a simple, familiar way. You can add elements such as gardens, parks and trees, add layers and define the parameters for each of them. In addition, you can drag and drop objects to the scenography and create as many sub-areas as you wish. Edificius-LAND BIM Application The tool is capable of rendering and displaying the images of your outdoor environment, thanks to a wide range of 3D models that it has in the library, such as trees, flowers, plants, playgrounds, parking lots, roads and other objects that you may want to integrate into your outdoor space. Additionally, it can animate and play sounds from your sound library and adjust lighting and the weather settings. Thanks to a built-in library with a wide range of 3D objects, you can make use of the tool to edit and model your garden or park project. When you start working, you will be able to place objects, decorate them and use them to define the areas that you have marked in your plans, so you can add layers and elements into the model. In terms of working, Edificius-LAND is capable of working with different types of files, and you can import and export them. Edificius-LAND Uninstaller To make sure that you can delete it from the registry, the program also provides a uninstaller that is easy to execute. Edificius-LAND License This software can be downloaded and installed for free. However, the product can be activated for a limited time for a fee of $50.
